Quote #20190923 for mmpdb

Dear Dr. Hippocrates de Kos,

Thank you for your interest in mmpdb. As we discussed, in exchange for EUR 5 000 I will deliver a version of mmpdb which supports the Postgres database as an alternative to the existing SQLite support, and add an option to the command-line tool so it is able to export property rules. You will receive a copy of work product under the 3-clause BSD license or similar open source license within two weeks of my receiving a purchase order from you.

After acceptance of the delivered software, invoices shall be paid without deduction within 30 days of the invoice date.

Your payment also includes membership in the mmpdb crowdsourcing consortium. You will receive a copy of any additional mmpdb features which are developed should others join the consortium and provide sufficient funding. This crowdsourcing effort will end on 1 February 2020 and the final code delivered within one month of that date.

Best regards,

Andrew Dalke
